Subject: RE: SC Reclamation List for December 2018

Hi Jim,

I have addressed the delay in activation of code 843-690 with Sandhill Connexions, 067J. Below is their response:

Sandhill definitely should have active customers by March.

The delay in utilization has been because of some vendor network interconnection issues we found in discovery. Now we are getting all of those connections established and some companies take a little more time than others.

With March activations really around the corner, if we turn in the 690 block now, we would just be asking in January to reestablish the block so it can be active in March. Switch programming and many internal systems have been instituted around this particular block.

As the company is confident they will have customers in service by the end of March, they would like me to go ahead a request an extension, if this is still possible. Can you please advise on the process for requesting this extension so I may get this submitted to you?

Thank you so much,

Karen Hoffman

Attached for your review and action is a list of assigned central office codes for which Part 4 forms have not been received during the six-month period following the original code assignment effective date. This list supplements the information provided to you in previous months. Receipt of the Part 4 form indicates that the code holder has placed the assigned central office code in service. The Federal Communications Commission's NRO order authorized state commissions to decide the disposition of these codes. ¹ For example, you could instruct NANPA to reclaim these codes, or you could extend the time the service providers have to put the codes in service.

Please review the attached Reclamation List and review the Central Office Code Reclamation State Processes posted on the NANPA web site (www.nanpa.com). Per the Central Office Code Reclamation Management State Processes, please forward copies of all approved Part 4 forms directly to me.

Should you have any questions, please direct them to me at 571-434-5348.
